Finishing greetings cards

You can find card for greetings cards at stationery shops or online.

Using PVA or fabric glue, spread some sparingly onto the edges of your knitted piece. Then position it on the front of your card and cover with heavy books. Leave it to dry for several hours or overnight.

If you find that the edges are curling up, as some stitches do, for example if you're using Fair Isle or Swiss darning, once the glue has dried add a bit more to the edges and cover with heavy books again until the extra glue has dried.

Will your Valentine appreciate this hand-made card?
